The Collegio offers a dynamic and interdisciplinary research environment. Our scientific community consists of resident faculty, recruited on the international academic job market, fellows and affiliates from the University of Torino, and visiting scholars. We have broad research interests that include education, family and households, innovation, labor and firms, migration and development, savings and pensions, and social policies and welfare.

THE COLLEGIO IN FIGURES

- our scientific community includes more than 60 researchers
- 21 resident faculty members, 17 with a PhD abroad
- half of the members of the junior faculty are foreigners
- 54 articles in major international journals published in 2018
- 50 working papers in 2018
- 5 ERC grants in the last 10 years and 39 European projects funded in the last 5 years
- 140 seminars and 85 conferences and workshops in 2018
- 167 students in 2018

These are the research questions we study:

- Governance and trust: why does the trust of citizens towards democratic institutions diminish? How can we tackle this problem and its side effects?
- Diversity and inequality in a plural society: what are the forms of inequality in Western societies? How can we transform them into opportunities?
- Sustainability, stability and security: how can we ensure a sustainable and safe future? What are the risks ahead and how can we deal with them?
- Regulation of markets in global contexts: how can we guarantee the rights of workers, consumers and citizens in a world increasingly populated by global companies?
  - Challenges and opportunities of digital transformation: how can we prevent innovations brought by digital transformation from being a cause of greater inequality, both at the economic and social level? How can we turn them into opportunities of greater social well-being?

RESEARCH

The Collegio hosts several research networks that share its emphasis on interdisciplinary work within Economics, Finance and Public Policies:

- BRICK - Bureau of Research in Innovation, Complexity and Knowledge
- CeRP - Center for Research on Pensions and Welfare Policies
- CHILD - Center for Household, Income, Labor, and Demographic Economics
- LABOR - Center for Employment Studies
- LDF - Laboratorio Diritti Fondamentali (Fundamental Rights Laboratory)
- LTI - Long - Term Investors@UniTo
- Migration observatory - in partnership with Centro Studi Luca d'Agliano
- OEET - Turin Center on Emerging Economies

Frontier work like the one sketched above often requires advanced and novel quantitative tools. This is an area where the Collegio excels, thanks also to the Statistics Initiative undertaken jointly with the Fondazione de Castro.

JUNIOR

MAGISTRALE
ALLIEVI

The “Allievi” Honors Program complements the education of academically outstanding students from the University of Torino and the Polytechnic University of Torino. The aim of the Program is to deepen the students’ knowledge with additional courses and tutorials on the Collegio’s core disciplines, taught in English. In this way, our Program prepares students for successful careers both in academia and in the private sector.

The Allievi are divided into Junior Allievi, who are enrolled in a Laurea Triennale, and Senior Allievi, who are enrolled in a Laurea Magistrale. Students in the Program are expected to fulfill their university requirements with high proficiency, as well as to participate in the individually tailored additional activities at the Collegio.

Selection of the candidates is based on merit.

The Allievi interact on a daily basis with the faculty of the Collegio. Moreover, they have access to the Collegio’s facilities and scientific activities, such as seminars, lectures, master’s and doctoral courses.

DOCTORAL EDUCATION

At the graduate level, for the Academic Year 2019/2020 the Collegio organizes three one-year Master's degree courses. The Master in Economics provides training in the advanced analytical tools and methodologies in the discipline, and a strong background for PhDs and professional economists. The Master in Finance, Insurance and Risk Management (MAFIRM), jointly organised with the University of Torino, prepares students for highly skilled occupations in quantitative finance, like risk and asset management in banking and insurance, Fintech, securities design and trading, banking and actuarial jobs.

The Master in Comparative Law, Economics and Finance (CLEF) is organised jointly with the Universities of Torino and Piemonte Orientale “Amedeo Avogadro” and the International University College of Turin.

The Collegio contributes to two doctoral programs in cooperation with the University of Torino: the “Vilfredo Pareto” Doctoral Program in Economics and the International PhD Program on Comparative Analysis of Economics, Institutions and Law (IEL). Its faculty is also actively involved in the doctoral programs of the Network of the Advancement of Social and Political Studies (NASP).

The Collegio's scientific communication activities include events for the general public and Distinguished Scientific Lectures, addressed to a broad audience of social scientists, students and practitioners.

Since its foundation the Collegio has hosted hundreds of prominent speakers, including Nobel laureates (Angus Deaton, James J. Heckman, Michael Kremer, Eric S. Maskin, Thomas J. Sargent and Jean Tirole), leaders of financial institutions, authors and entrepreneurs. International distinguished speakers are the centerpiece of our series of Distinguished Scientific Lectures: the biennial Carlo Alberto Medal Lecture, the annual Onorato Castellino Lecture (organized by the research network CeRP), and the annual Vilfredo Pareto

Lecture in Economics and Social Sciences. Scientific dissemination is the main focus of our Collegio Aperto initiative. Delivered by leaders in the academic and the policy worlds, the Collegio Aperto lectures center on topics of current interest as seen from the perspective of the social sciences. Finally, our seminar series, workshops and conferences, organized by Collegio scholars or by the research networks, are geared toward an audience of academics and students in specific disciplines.

Our emphasis on excellence in research motivated the institution of the Carlo Alberto Medal, a recognition awarded to an Italian economist (resident in Italy or abroad) under the age of 40 for outstanding research contributions to the field of Economics (broadly defined).

CARLO
ALBERTO
MEDAL

The recipient delivers the Carlo Alberto Lecture and is nominated Honorary Fellow of the Collegio.

The prize is given to Italian young scholars in economics for their exceptional scientific achievements. For young scholars at Italian universities, it provides them with a further incentive to pursue their research activity with renewed commitment. For Italian scholars who work at universities and research institutions abroad, the prize is a public acknowledgement on the part of their country of origin.
